CELEBRATING PIETERMARITZBURG'S RELIGIOUS TRADITIONS

A series of Talks in the Tatham Art Gallery by Alleyn Diesel

The Tatham Art Gallery will host one more illustrated talk by Alleyn Diesel of approximately an hour each, who has a PhD in Religious Studies from the University of Natal, where she taught in the Religious Studies Department.

Saturday 5th November at 11am

CHRISTIAN PLACES OF WORSHIP: FROM EARLIEST TIMES TO CONTEMPORARY SPACES

What does the style of a church building say about the beliefs of those who worship in it, and what do you think a church should look like? What different architectural styles and materials, have been employed over the centuries – for example, Catacombs, Roman Basilicas, Romanesque, Gothic, Baroque, and contemporary Modernism?

The talk will take place in the Tatham Art Gallery Lecture Theatre at R30 per person. The R30 donation will help towards buying craft shop stock within the Gallery and booking is essential.
